PRESIDENT GREET
JEWISH CONVENTION

Sends Message Commending
Example of Patriotism and Humanism.

BUFFALO, May 24.—A message from President Harding in which he voiced the nation's appreciation of the patriotism and humanism of the American Jews was read to-day at the biennial convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. The President's letter was addressed to Simon Wolf of Washington, chairman of the civil rights committee of the union, and said:

"When the Union of American Hebrew Congregations holds its annual meeting in Buffalo I will be very glad if you will communicate my greetings to those present and through them to the great American Hebrew community whom they represent. Our Hebrew Americans have set a fine example of patriotism and humanism during the stressful years through which we have been passing, and I want to express to them the assurance that the nation knows and appreciates their great contribution."

Ignorance, skepticism and indifference, plus a dearth of inspiring leaders and teachers, and unsatisfactory organization of the synagogue have caused the modern American Jew to drift away from the synagogue. That in the composite opinion of 160 rabbis, lay heads of congregations and leaders of women's synagogue organizations, who responded to a questionnaire recently sent out by the congregation membership commission of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. Rabbi Maurice H. Harris of New York, chairman of the commission, presented those findings and suggestions for overcoming them at the convention to-day.

Endeavoring to ascertain why a large proportion of American Jewry is not affiliated with any congregation, the commission learned from replies to the questionnaire that the American Jew was considered to be ignorant of the principles of his faith and of the function of the Jewish people in the world. The fact that Jews dwell principally in large cities was held to be in a measure responsible for this. Lack of faith, due to lack of religious education, indifference and lack of pride in their Jewish heritage, the inability to observe the Jewish Sabbath because of conflicting national customs and economic necessity, were also advanced as reasons for the drift from Judaism.

The commission suggests the internal reorganization of the synagogue, conducting it, where possible, with a community center, and providing junior congregations or organizations for young people. It urges the adoption of the unassigned pew system and of individual membership, suggests that women be admitted equally with men as officers and members, and that all synagogue members be offered greater opportunities to participate in the work of the organization.

"The time for prayer is past. The time now is for work," declared Adolph S. Ochs at a luncheon of the representatives from New York. That statement was made after the address of Daniel P. Hays, chairman of the New York executive committee, who expressed his disappointment at the inadequate support given to the religious and synagogue extension of the union by New York Jewry."

Four prominent European Jews—Dr. Nathan Birnbaum, Dr. Meyer Hildesheimer and Rabbi J. Huebner of Berlin and Rabbi Leopold Spitzer of Kirchdrauf, Czechoslovakia—arrived last night on the Scandinavian-American liner Frederick VIII, on a mission which has for its purpose the quickening of religion among their people in this country. They were met at the Hotel Hoboken, by a committee of New York rabbis.

Dr. Birnbaum, an author of many books on Jewry, said that in addition to their efforts to strengthen the Jewish faith he and his associates will seek the cooperation of the American Government in placing Palestine on a higher religious scale.

Einstein Welcomed in Newark. Thousands of Jews turned out to welcome Prof. Albert Einstein and Dr. Chaim Weizmann, head of the Zionist Commission, yesterday afternoon, when they visited Newark. A mass meeting was held in the city hall and later the visitors were entertained at a banquet. Gov. Edwards of New Jersey and Mayor Archibald of Newark welcomed the visitors.

Funds Lacking for Schools.

The school children of New York face the possibility of going this summer without vacation schools or vacation playgrounds, because of the failure of the Board of Estimate so far to find sufficient funds to run the public schools to the end of the year. That state of affairs was brought out yesterday at a board meeting, when William L. Ettinger, Superintendent of Schools, was instructed to learn from the Board of Estimate whether assistance may be expected.

Maher Circle Dedication Arranged.

The plaza at the junction of 155th street, Edgecomb avenue, the Speedway and St. Nicholas place, recently named Maher Circle by the Board of Aldermen, is to be dedicated formally on Memorial Day. The name is in memory of Lieut. Joseph P. Maher of the Marine Corps, son of James W. Maher of 463 West 158th street, an attaché of the Surgeon's Court. He was killed at the battle of Mont Blanc Ridge, October 4, 1918, when only 19 years old, after having won the French Medal Militaire.
